1. Context

This Policy supports Australian Institute of Business Intelligence’s Higher Education (the ‘Institute’s) commitment to excellence in academic standards as well as equity across a diverse student population. Core to the Institute’s philosophy is that all students with the capacity to succeed in tertiary study should have the opportunity to do so, regardless of social or educational disadvantage.

2. Definitions

Academic Dean: within this document this refers to the Academic Dean of the faculty that the prospective student is applying for admission.

Accreditation: the process by which a course is certified with authority. The authority that accredits the Institute’s courses is the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA), which ensures the course is compliant with the Higher Education Standards Framework (Threshold Standards) 2021 (HESF 2021).

Admission: the procedures and processes involved in the offer of a place in a course offered by the Institute and the approval to enrol.

Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF): Australia’s national policy for regulated qualifications. It encompasses higher education, vocational education and training and school education and provides for national recognition and a consistent understanding of what defines each qualification type.

Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR): a number between 0.00 and 99.95 that indicates a student’s position relative to all the students who sat for a senior secondary certificate in Australia.

Compassionate or compelling circumstances: circumstances beyond the control of the student which will have an impact upon the student's progress or wellbeing.

Disadvantage: includes, but is not limited to, applicants with physical disabilities, from geographically isolated areas, with economically disadvantaged backgrounds, with Australian residency granted on humanitarian grounds, Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander applicants, and those with compassionate or compelling circumstances.

Domestic student: Australian citizens, New Zealand citizens, or holders of an Australian permanent visa (holders of all categories of permanent resident visas including Humanitarian Visas).

English language proficiency: the ability to successfully use the English language to communicate meaning in an academic and discipline context, in both verbal and written form.

Overseas student: a student who is not a domestic student and who may hold a student visa and is protected by the Education Services for Overseas Students Act 2000 legislative framework.

Course: a course of study, comprising subjects of study, the successful completion of which results in the awarding of a qualification, such as a bachelor's degree.

3. Scope

This Policy applies to all prospective students of the Institute, including international and domestic students.

4. Policy principles

The key principles informing this Policy are:

- applications for admission are treated fairly and equitably;
- applications for admission are considered based on demonstrated ability to successfully study at the relevant level; and
- admissions information is transparent, being clear, sufficiently detailed, and easily accessible.

5. Admission Criteria

Prospective students can gain admission into an Institute undergraduate course by meeting at least one the following admission criteria:

- broadly relevant work experience (documented e.g., CV), demonstrating a reasonable prospect of success; and/or
- formal, informal, or non-formal study, completed or partially completed, demonstrating a reasonable prospect of success; and/or
- written submission to demonstrate reasonable prospect of success.

5.5. Alternative admission options
